JOHN SCHRANK PLEADS GUILTY TO ASSAULT, EXPLAINING THAT HE CONSIDERED ROOSEVELT A "MENACE."

SANITY EXAMINATION

Municipal Judge Backus Names Commission to Determine As to Defendant's Mental Condition Before Passing Sentence.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Milwaukee, Nov. 12.—John Schrank pleaded guilty today of attempting to murder Theodore Roosevelt, and in his plea he sought to distinguish between an assault upon Roosevelt as a "menace," and an attack upon Roosevelt as a citizen.

Municipal Judge A. C. Backus announced, upon reading a petition of District Attorney Winifred C. Zabel, that he would name later today a commission to examine into Schrank's mental condition.

Audience is Small. Fewer than 150 persons listened to the proceedings and watched the small, compact form of Schrank as he stepped slowly to the bar and entered his plea. Of this number twenty detectives and half a score of deputy sheriffs kept vigilant watch on all persons in the room not known to them.

Schrank's case was the first action of the court which sat a few minutes after 10 o'clock. "Is there any matter to come before the court?" queried Judge Backus. "There is the case of the state of Wisconsin against one John Schrank," replied the district attorney, who then read the information and complaint in which Schrank was accused of having made an assault upon the person of "one Theodore Roosevelt, with a deadly weapon and with intent then and there to kill and slay the said Theodore Roosevelt."

Enters His Plea. "How do you plead to this charge?" the prosecutor asked, the prisoner standing at his elbow holding over his arm a black cloth overcoat. "Why, guilty, Mr. Zabel," replied the prisoner, in a confused way, as though not sure he was following the proper procedure. "You have heard the complaint," interrupted Judge Backus, in a loud voice, "you understand that in it you are charged with having attempted to murder Theodore Roosevelt. Do you plead guilty or not guilty?"

"I do not mean to kill a citizen," Judge Backus Schrank, "and the crowd in the court room gave first audible evidence of its interest in the case. "I shot Theodore Roosevelt because he was a menace to the country. He should not have a third term. I did not want him to have one. I shot him as a warning that men must not try to have more than two terms as president."

Roosevelt Dangerous. "I shot Theodore Roosevelt to kill him. I think all men trying to keep themselves in office should be killed; they become dangerous. I did not do it because he was a candidate of the progressive party, either, gentlemen," he concluded. "All right," interrupted the court, taking from the district attorney the plea for a sanity commission for the defendant. He read it hastily while the prosecutor explained its purpose. "The man is insane," said the district attorney, "it would be wrong to sentence him for a crime if he was mentally unsound, just because he was willing to plead guilty."

"I will name a commission at the afternoon session to inquire into his sanity," announced the court. "Let no one leave the court room until the defendant Schrank is outside of the city hall."

Names Commission. Schrank went back to the jail with his guardsmen. Judge Backus announced privately in advance that, having obtained the consent of the physicians he would appoint on the commission to examine Schrank's sanity, Drs. F. E. Studley, superintendent of a sanitarium; William F. Becker, former head of the Northern Hospital for the Insane, at Winnebago, Wis.; D. W. Herrington, a nerve specialist, and Richard Dewey, all of Milwaukee.

The court appointed Attorney Joseph Flander of Milwaukee to represent Schrank in the sanity hearing. The experts expected to begin their examination immediately after being instructed and sworn in at the afternoon session of court.

TELLS OF HIS PART IN KANSAS CITY JOB

Ortie McManigal Recounts His Work As Accomplice to John McNamara in Destroying Bridge.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Indianapolis, Nov. 12.—Ortie McManigal, told at the dynamite conspiracy trial today how with twelve quarts of nitro-glycerine he arrived in Kansas, City, Mo., to blow up a bridge across the Missouri river there in August, 1910. He testified he had gone as a paid accomplice of John J. McNamara, who at Indianapolis had instructed him to cause three explosions on the bridge being built by non-union workers.

At Kansas City McManigal said he left his nitro-glycerine successfully at the railroad station, a boarding house and at a hotel. "I had one ten quart can and one two quart can," said McManigal, "to divide it into these bombs I went to a paint shop and got three four quart cans distributing the explosive in the new cans. With alarm clock attachments I took the stuff out and buried it in a swamp near the bridge."

"While working in the swamp I thought I saw someone coming so I hurriedly hid the bombs in the weeds and on returning I could only find two of them. I set the bomb to explode that night and went back to town. The explosion failed to come off. I found the batteries were too weak and replaced them the next day. The explosion took place about 8:30 p. m., August 23."

FIND UNKNOWN BODY IN A LUMBER CAMP

Body of Unidentified Man Discovered in Deserted Camp Near Chisholm, Minnesota.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chisholm, Minn., Nov. 12.—"If a man finds a dead body isn't he supposed to notify the authorities?" excitedly asked a stranger as he stopped Thomas York's auto late yesterday afternoon. Mr. York told him it was customary to notify the coroner.

"Well," said the stranger as he disappeared in a bush, "There's a dead man in that lumber camp," indicating a deserted bunk house. Mr. York investigated and found a cleanly dressed body in a bunk. Deputy coroner Kirk was hurried to the camp and found the corpse still warm. Three bullet holes one in the abdomen, one in the lower chest and a third in the temple were found. The dead man was apparently between 30 and 35 years of age and had been working on a trolley line contract. The camp ten days ago had been deserted by a trolley crew. An investigation is under way to clear up the mystery.

Davis shared his rooms with Tanous, but sent a telegram to St. Cloud asking whether Tanous had escaped. The reply was affirmative. The Chicago police were notified and arrested the fugitive, but he broke from his captors. Two hours later when limping along the tracks of the St. Paul railroad on the outskirts of the city he was arrested by other policemen as a suspicious character. # ROCK COUNTY BOARD IN ANNUAL SESSION

SUPERVISORS MEET IN REGULAR NOVEMBER SESSION AT THE COURT HOUSE THIS AFTERNOON.

TO NEGOTIATE A LOAN

Resolution to Replenish Asylum Fund Brings Out Necessity of Borrowing Money—Trustees Report.

Members of the Rock County Board of Supervisors met in their regular annual November session at the county clerk's office this afternoon. The meeting was called to order at two o'clock by Chairman A. C. Gray. Three new supervisors were given seats on the board John W. Tullar taking the place of M. L. Paulson of Evansville, resigned, and W. A. Rossow taking the place of E. D. Cannon of Beloit, while Fred Ellendahl will sit in the place of H. E. Moseley of the town of Beloit. All members were present with the exception of H. T. Harper of the town of Plymouth.

The first business of importance to come before the board were the reports of the trustees of the county asylum for the insane and of Superintendent D. M. Barless. The trustees' report was read by C. E. Langworthy, president of the board while Mr. Barless read his own report. These have been published in pamphlet form and were placed in the hands of the supervisors. The trustees recommended that $10,000 be appropriated and transferred from the general fund for the use of the asylum. A resolution to that effect was introduced by Supervisor Treasanday and was adopted by the board. In the discussion preceding the passage of the motion it was noted that there were only $9,000 in the treasury at present and that a loan must necessarily be negotiated within the near future to meet the current expense of the county until the returns should be received from the state. Mr. Barless stated that the trustees had borrowed over $3,000 and that it would cost the asylum and poor farm $2,000 per month for expenses.

A unanimous ballot was cast for Mr. Langworthy as president of the asylum trustees to succeed himself. George Seegmiller, joint superintendent of the county poor farm, was unanimously elected as postmaster for the southern district of the county. L. M. Nelson was unanimously selected to fill the position of janitor at the court house for the ensuing year.

An invitation was accepted from Sheriff and Mrs. E. H. Ransom to the supervisors to take dinner at the county jail on Wednesday at two o'clock. Supt. Barless extended a similar invitation to the board for Thursday, which was likewise accepted.

Two Thousand Pounds of Explosive Destroy Part of Powder Plant at Gary, Costing Six Lives.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Gary, Ind., Nov. 12.—Six men were killed by an explosion of 2,000 pounds of dynamite in one of the pack houses at the plant of the Acton Powder company near here early today. The dead: William Halpin, foreman; Charles Schmidt, Theodore Carlson, three unidentified workmen. A number of workmen were reported to have been injured, but officials of the powder company declared this was incorrect. An interurban train was within a few hundred yards of the plant at the time of the explosion, but no one on the train was injured. Windows were broken in the town of Miller, a mile distant. The pack houses are sunk in the ground only the glass roof or skylight being above the surface. All other buildings composing the plant are similarly constructed and are widely separated. This arrangement of buildings prevented complete destruction of the plant.

PREMIER OF SPAIN SHOT AND KILLED IN MADRID TODAY

Jose Canalejas Killed on Way to Cabinet Meeting—Assailant Committed Suicide After Being Arrested.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Madrid, Nov. 12.—The Spanish premier, Jose Canalejas, was shot dead today while entering the ministry of the interior here to attend a cabinet meeting. His assailant, Manuel Pardinias Serrato Martin, aged 28, of El Grado, province of Ruesca, was arrested and then committed suicide.

Senor Canalejas, who belonged to a wealthy and prominent family, came to the front in political life only in 1900 when he took a leading part in the campaign against clericalism. He had, however, taken great interest in politics as a student and public speaker many years before that. At the age of 25 he became a member of the Spanish parliament, attaching himself to the advanced liberal section, becoming a member of Premier Sagasta's cabinet in 1902 as minister of agriculture. He introduced many reforms, especially in regard to the working classes and eventually created a department of labor. When he was asked in February, 1910, by King Alfonso to form a ministry the request caused a great sensation and it was the first time in the history of Spain that an advanced radical had been placed at the head of the ministry. His cabinet since has undergone many changes, but he always has retained the leading place. He had much to do with the signing of the agreement between Spain and France on the question of the future of Morocco, which was recently satisfactorily settled.

DEMAND FOR LABOR THROUGHOUT STATE

General Laborers for Construction and Street Work Especially Needed in Wisconsin. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Nov. 12.—Steady activity has marked operations in the labor markets of Wisconsin during the last weeks of the fall season. The demand, especially for common laborers, remained above the supply at the prevailing rates of wages for the whole month of October. Employers called for more men to finish up their jobs before the advent of frost, and the free employment offices at Milwaukee, Superior and Oshkosh have been kept constantly busy. Workmen changed jobs frequently and many refused offers of employment until they could find the kind of work that suited them.

Over 2,900 men and 670 women were referred to employers in October by the four Wisconsin Free Employment offices. Of these, 1,538 men and 331 women accepted the positions to which they were sent. Twenty-five hundred men and 600 women registered for work and employers called for more than 4200 men and 700 women.

The greatest demand was for general laborers on construction and street work. Next to them, railroad laborers were most in demand. The building trades came next, and after them farm hands were most in demand. Laborers for the woods and workers in the various metal trades were also greatly in demand. Other industries actively calling for help were wood-working and furniture, food products, hotels and restaurants, and teaming and liveries. Many opportunities for boys to learn trades were also offered.

Fifteen per cent of the total demand for men was for casual laborers to do short jobs. A very large part for the rest was seasonal work which will close up with the coming of the winter. In the building trades about half of the men wanted were common laborers, one-third were skilled mechanics, and one-sixth were semi-skilled helpers. In the metal trades the proportions were 38 per cent skilled, 24 per cent semi-skilled or helpers, and 38 per cent common laborers. In wood-working the demand ran about as in the building trades. The greater part of the demand in other industries was for unskilled labor.

For women the greatest number of opportunities were in domestic service, hotels and restaurants, clothing and textiles, food and kindred products, clerical work, and casual labor at scrubbing and washing.

POLITICAL DEADLOCK IS STILL UNBROKEN

NEITHER AUSTRIA-HUNGARY OR SERBIA HAS GIVEN WAY ON SINGLE POINT IN BAL-KAN TANGLE.

GERMANY INTERVENES?

Great Powers Are Trying to Reconcile Antagonists, But Fathaland is Said to Have Induced Austria Not to Press Objections.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] London, Eng., Nov. 12.—The deadlock continues in the international political situation brought about by the Balkan war. Neither Austria-Hungary nor Serbia has given way on a single essential point in regard to the future of Albania and the proposed occupation by the Servians of a port on the Adriatic sea. Despite this and the further fact that the Russian press is daily intensifying the warlike tone of its support of the Servian cause, some of the European chancelleries take a more optimistic view of the condition of affairs, assuming that yesterday's conference between the Austrian and Servian statesmen at Budapest have tended to relieve the crisis. So far as known, however, Dr. S. Danef, president of the Bulgarian chamber of deputies, simply informed Emperor Francis Joseph and his ministers of the position of the Balkan nations in the matter, and in return had explained to him for the benefit of Serbia and Bulgaria the policy of Austria-Hungary. The great powers not directly interested in the outcome, but more particularly Germany, are making strong efforts to reconcile the two antagonists and it is believed that Germany has at least induced Austria-Hungary not to press her objections to Serbia's aims until the end of the campaign.

Germany has pointed out that the whole question of the Balkans can then be settled by a European conference in which the Balkan nations will have a voice. Claim Victories. London, Nov. 12.—Rumors are current today in Sofia that the Bulgarian army has captured the line of forts at Tchatalla in front of Constantinople, according to a news agency dispatch. A Bulgarian column is said to have reached Blyuk, Chekmedye on the sea of Marmora, to the south of Tchatalla. It is also stated that the Bulgarian army under General Theodoroff has reached Saloniki.

The ambassador at London of one of the great powers, in an interview today, said: "The government of the powers on the international situation, excited some of the newspapers may be. Our great aim is to prevent any issue of the war from becoming a matter between the triple alliance (Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy) and the triple entente (France, Great Britain and Russia). Whatever discussion may have taken place between these groups it is a fact that no official utterance on their behalf has been made."

"This being so it would be well not to attach too much importance to exaggerated statements or interviews with ministers. "One thing is absolutely certain, and that is that no one wants war. On the contrary we are all determined to have peace, and do you think a question such as that now being so much talked of between Austria and Serbia would be worth a general conflagration? We all think not."

Inquiries in other quarters add to the impression that moderate councils are prevailing. Missionaries Are O. K. New York, Nov. 12.—Cleveland H. Dodge of this city, today received the following cablegram from Dr. Gates, president of Roberts college at Constantinople: "Constantinople, Nov. 11.—The missionaries and colleges at Constantinople are all right. The city is tranquil. Our college is in session as usual. (Signed) Gates."

Turks Gain. Vienna, Nov. 12.—This situation in the neighborhood of the Turkish fortress of Scutari has undergone a change to the headquarters of the Montenegrin attacking army, according to a correspondent of the Reichspost at San Giovanni. The Montenegrins have been driven by the Turkish from the plains to the south of Scutari and are now in the vicinity of the Boyana river, while last week the Montenegrins had advanced as far as Alessio.

Servian Losses. Belgrade, Nov. 12.—The Servian casualties at the battle of Philip now are stated to have numbered about 3,000, mostly slightly wounded. The Turks lost 8,000 men. At the battle of Krushovo the Servian losses totaled 300 and the Turkish casualties 1,700.

American Reservists. Athens, Nov. 12.—A body of 1,500 Greek reservists from America arrived today. A force of 300 military police has left for Saloniki to police the city.

Protect Americans. Washington, Nov. 12.—Russia officially informed the United States today that it will look out for the interests of the United States in Turkish waters and for United States citizens in Turkey.

Life Blood of Janesville Will it Stay in the City?

WHY MONEY SHOULD NOT GO TO MAIL ORDER CONCERNS, WHO WOULD WIPE OUT MIDDLEMAN.

SOME FACTS TOLD PLAINLY

Inauguration of Parcels Post, January First, Hailed With Joy by Outside Firms. First of Series of Articles Covering Three Years' Period in This Issue—Of Vital Interest to All.

Commencing today—with the co-operation of the merchants, manufacturers and business men of Janesville—the Gazette begins the publication of a series of articles, once a week, for a period of three years, covering the matter of home trade, local community building, store help, etc.

With the inauguration of the parcels post system January 1st, there becomes more imperative than ever, the need of combatting the mail order house. Every single firm of this description, and all the big department stores are making extensive preparations to place their catalogues before the consumer, and their cry is "Do away with the middle man." If such a state of affairs ever does come to pass, it will be a sorry day for this country. Where would Janesville be on the map?

The merchants, manufacturers and business men of Janesville, with those of whom The Gazette has taken this up, do not hesitate in commending this move and promise The Gazette hearty support.

This paper has made arrangements with men who have spent years in studying this phase of commercial business. They will contribute the articles with the aid that may be extended by our own staff.

These articles will appear from week to week under the caption "Trade Philosophy" by Edgar Taylor Wheelock and Thomas J. Sullivan of the National Business Publicity Association. The first article appears below:

COMMERCIAL BLOOD-LETTING

Money is the Life-Blood of Commerce, and He Who Sends His Money Away From His Home Town is Like the Man Who Cuts His Own Throat.

The man who sends money away from home to purchase goods that should be bought from local dealers is guilty of an offense against the community in which he lives for which no valid excuse can be framed.

He takes from the channels of local trade that which is required to keep his home town in a condition of sound commercial and industrial health.

He contributes to the impoverishment of the entire community—himself included.

MONEY LIFE-BLOOD OF TRADE.

Money is the life-blood of trade. Without money business is impossible, just as animal life is impossible without blood. Where there is no money there is no credit, property values are reduced to the vanishing point, and trade languishes.

A community without money is like a body without blood—lifeless. At one time in the history of the medical profession the gentle art of killing patients by copiously bleeding them on the slightest provocation was a common practice among established physicians.

Groping in the twilight of a dawning scientific day, the medical experimenters appeared to think that blood-letting was a sovereign remedy for all the ills of the flesh. With a cheerful optimism that never faltered even in the face of uniform failure, they continued to bleed while patients continued to die from loss of blood.

PAY FANCY PRICES ABROAD.

Today the blood-letters have entered the commercial field. The well-to-do citizens profess to want something better than their local merchants keep in stock and they go with their wives to the big cities, Chicago and Milwaukee, to buy furniture, clothing, dress goods, and many other things for which they generally pay fancy prices.

The wage-earner and the farmer, following the practice of the more experienced business men, buy from the catalogue and mail order houses CHEAP GOODS that, in nine cases out of ten, are not worth the prices paid for them.

Both classes are robbing their community of its commercial blood.

Every community is a business organism—a unit—the members of which in a measure are dependent upon one another. What affects one affects all.

Where there is a diversity of industries and a proper balance between the different branches of industry—production, distribution, and consumption—and where there is an abundance of the necessary medium of exchange, credit is always on a sound basis, products move freely, property advances in value, and prosperity is the rule.

Take away from the community one of the most important elements of prosperity—the medium of exchange—and the effect is inevitable: a weakening of the organism.

EVIL OF MAIL ORDERS.

Yet this is precisely what the mail order traders and the big city shoppers are doing. They earn or make their money by trade in the communities where they live. Then they send or take that money to the big city and give it to the metropolitan merchants who make a profit from their trade. Is there any excuse for such disloyalty?

What can be expected from the big city merchants, or the catalogue and mail order houses to whom this trade is given?

They invariably exchange goods, for money—never money for goods.

They employ no labor in the communities where their customers must earn their living.

They buy no farm products; they pay no taxes; they have no money deposited in the local banks; they do not advertise in the local newspapers; they do not give credit; they do not even pay the freight on the goods they sell.

Why not give the local merchants an opportunity to compete with the big city dealers? They can do it if they have a chance. They can get goods of any quality, however costly or cheap, if their customers will but make their wants known.

All they ask is a chance to figure.

EVENING INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL PLANS MADE

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL BOARD AT MEETING LAST NIGHT OUTLINES STUDY COURSES

FIVE GROUPS OF WORK

Including The Commercial, Domestic Science, Industrial, Practical Science And Academic

At a meeting of the Janesville Industrial School board at the high school last evening, an outline of the courses and other plans for an evening industrial school to be conducted aside from the daytime school, were arranged. The evening school will be open to men and women over sixteen years of age not attending the day schools. Two meetings a week are planned on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7:30 to 9:30 in the evening, beginning Nov. 19 when the first class will be organized. The evening school will continue for four months.

The outline of the courses as decided upon by the board is given in their report which is published below:

Subjects of Instruction

Classes will be offered in the following subjects if ten or more persons enroll and a competent teacher can be secured:

Commercial Work: Penmanship, bookkeeping, typewriting, shorthand, commercial arithmetic, salesmanship. Domestic Science Work: Plain and machine sewing, cooking and household sanitation, millinery, household arts, decoration and designs, dress-making.

Industrial Work: Mechanical drawing, drafting, pattern making, joinery and cabinet making.

Department of Practical Science: Study of electrical appliances, study of gasoline engines.

Academic Department: Reading for Foreigners, Practical English, citizenship.

Evening School Work.

The work of the evening school consists of five groups of activities:

First, Commercial work. A course designed to aid the men and women already engaged in, or who contemplate engaging in commercial pursuits. The class in salesmanship is already assured with Prof. Nastrum of the State University in charge.

Second, Domestic or vocational work for women including millinery and dressmaking, machine and plain sewing, cooking, etc., for acquiring skill in the home or shop.

Third, Vocational work for men. This course in shop work will be conducted by Janesville's most skillful shop foreman if such can be obtained. It will include drafting, pattern making, joinery, etc.

Fourth, a department of practical science where men and women may learn how to operate and clean a gasoline engine, electrical appliances, etc.

Fifth, an academic department for acquiring proficiency in English.

Free to Residents.

The school in all of its departments is free to men and women residents of Janesville. Fifty cents ($50) a week will be charged to non-residents. All persons attending will be expected to pay for the use of books and to furnish material needed.

It is the purpose of the industrial board to give instruction within reason in every line of industrial work for which there is a demand and which will be helpful to improve the individual in his special work. The school is provided for by law and is supported by local taxation and some state aid.

A deposit fee of two dollars ($2.00) will be required of every student enrolling which will be refunded if the attendance is punctual and regular. Barring sickness an attendance of less than eighty-five (85) per cent will be deemed unsatisfactory.

Those desiring to avail themselves of this Free Evening School should enroll early in November so that the organization may be complete ready for work on November 19th. Notify Supt. H. C. Buell if you desire to join any of the classes.

Board of Industrial Education, President Fred L. Smith; secretary, Carl Buchholz; Victor P. Richardson, Otto F. Schooff, H. C. Buell, superintendent.

MRS. WORRY.

BY C. A. VOIGHT.

Hughey Jennings, who is pulling down $800 a week as a vaudeville artist, sings in his act. He warbles "That's How I Love You."

Those who have heard Jennings say that he isn't half as good as Caruso, yet there is something about his singing that makes the audience want to hear some more. Instead of singing, Hughey goes through his coaching antics.

He told a friend the one song was all he knew.

New York American league fans are sorry to see Wolverton go. He was popular with them, and they thought his poor showing this season was due to bad luck with his best players. President Fairhol of the club, is casting about for a new man to lead his team next season.

Hank O'Day, who managed the Cincinnati Reds last season into a first division berth, may be an American league umpire next year. He doesn't want to be a manager again. "What the Reds need is a playing manager," said Hank in a recent letter to President Garry Herrmann of that club.

Paddy Lavin's bout with Kid Broad at Buffalo Friday night shows how hard it is for a fighter to get a fresh start without the sacrifice of self-respect. Broad is just an ordinary fighter whom Lavin would have scorned in the old days. However, he took the bout to further his chance of another argument with K. O. Brennan, who knocked him out a few months ago. Lavin has led a clean life, but midnight meals, too much pie, and a laxity in training have put him on the kibosh temporarily.

Heine Zimmerman, who was discovered by Johnny Evers, the new manager of the Chicago Cubs, would like to take the place of his new boss at second base. Evers has been worrying about a successor for Joe Tinker at short. Why not Evers put himself at short, Zimmerman at second, and then Tommy Leach, now in the outfield, in Zimmerman's present berth at third? Leach made good at third with the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Zimmie is sure he can do a lot better at second than Evers' ever done.

The immediate future of Mr. Joe Tinker, Chicago Cub shortstop, is shrouded in mystery. Tinker wanted to be manager of the Cincinnati Reds, but President Murphy, of the Cubs, and Garry Hermann, of the Reds, couldn't come to terms. Murphy wants Nap Rucker, the Brooklyn star twirler, and would like to exchange Tinker for him. It is said, however, that President Ebbetts wouldn't exchange Rucker for two or three Tinkers.

America will be overrun with foreign boxers this winter. A few of them who are out after our money are Bombarrier Wells, champion heavyweight of England; George Carpenter, the French lightweight champion, with whom Billy Papke wiped the earth last month; Charles Ledoux, French bantam, and Eddie Morgan, Welsh bantam, who is the only star of the lot.

LINE CITY BOWLERS IN RETURN CONTEST

Team of Crack Beloit Men Will Meet Janesville Bowlers Tomorrow Evening—Results Last Night.

Members of the Beloit bowling team will meet the Janesville bowlers in a return contest on Hockett's alleys tomorrow evening. Although the Bower City team was defeated at Beloit two weeks ago some skillful work will be necessary for the Line City men to capture the honors a second time. The Janesville team will be Ed Baumann, Merrick, Leon Myhr, Jack Gsell and Will Heise.

In the contest in the bowling league last night the cardinals took two games from the blues. Mead rolled one of the highest scores of the season, scoring 213 in the last game. Following is the detailed score:

Cardinals:
Richards	138	138	173
Yedians	110	145	160
Jeffers	149	169	169

Totals	705	749	852—2306

Blues:
O'Donnell	161	150	165
Osborn	134	171	103
Thuerer	135	130	132

Ferns and Howell to Meet. Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 12.—The Indianapolis Athletic Club has arranged a promising card for its boxing show to be given tomorrow night. The main event will bring together Clarence Ferns of Kansas City and Tommy Howell of Philadelphia for a ten-round bout. The two are considered evenly matched and an interesting contest is expected.

The football squad will furnish considerable material to the team at the close of its season. ## RIVER IMPROVEMENT SCHEME IS REVIVED Meeting to Reorganize Association Called at Rockford According to Word Received by George S. Parker.

Further agitation in regard to the improvement of Rock river between this city and Sterling, Ill., is indicated in a letter received by George S. Parker today from William A. Messe of Moline, Ill., in which he calls attention to the fact that a report will be transmitted to Washington soon in regard to the improvement of Rock river. He also suggests that the improvement association which was formed several years ago be reorganized and that a membership be secured in the "National Rivers and Harbors Congress," of which he is a director. His letter to Mr. Parker is self-explanatory.

"Mr. George S. Parker, Janesville, Wis., Dear Mr. Parker:—The report on the improvement of Rock river between the cities of Janesville, Wis., and Sterling and Rock Falls, Ill., will soon be transmitted to Washington. All those interested in this improvement should now become active in furthering the work. I believe we should hold a meeting, not necessarily a large convention, but a gathering of active advocates of the improvement of the river, and that we should reorganize the association and prepare for the winter's campaign. I have asked the Hon. J. P. Edwards, president of the association, to issue a call for a meeting at the Elks Club, Rockford on Saturday, Nov. 16, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon. We need but a few hours to do what is necessary. I hope this meets your approval. Very truly, Wm. A. Messe."

In order to further the work Mr. Messe suggests that money be raised in the various cities along the river as follows: Janesville, Beloit and Rockford, each $150; Oregon, $50; Milan and Sears, $50; Sterling and Rock Falls, $100.

Letters have been sent to L. E. Cunningham and F. N. Gardner at Beloit, to Thomas D. Reber and Col. George Roper of Rockford, and to citizens at the other cities interested. It is probable that Janesville will send a delegation to Rockford on the 16th inst.

THE SUNDAY THEATRE.

The arrest of the two theatrical managers, on the complaint of S. M. Jacobs, for keeping their playhouses open on Sunday, has opened up the question of Sunday amusements, which cover a wide range of territory. It is understood that Mr. Jacobs acted on his own initiative. The law under which he brought complaint, is a state law, and has to do with all kinds of unnecessary gainful occupations. The most that can be accomplished is a light fine.

To many the act seems premature as the only way to enforce the law is by the passage of an ordinance to take the place of the one repealed, by the old Council, and other matters of greater importance are just now occupying the time of the commission.

A variety of opinion exists concerning the Sunday theatre, and the Council will doubtless attempt to find out what public sentiment is before taking radical action.

Many good people argue that Sunday golf, Sunday baseball, picnic excursions, launch and automobile rides, and many other so-called innocent amusements are indulged in without question, and that the individual conscience determines the question of right and wrong.

These people claim that efforts to regulate, are regarded as infringements on the rights of personal liberty, and that the Sunday theatre furnishes entertainment for a class of people who can not afford the more expensive amusements.

Of course much can be said on the other side, so far as strict observance of the Sabbath is concerned, according to the old New England code, but the day has passed when compulsion is effective, on the question of church attendance and Sabbath keeping.

Long continued custom has made it seem right for some lines of business to be conducted on Sunday, and no one thinks of interfering. It is to be regretted that the last act of the expiring council, added the Sunday theatre to the list, for the novelty startles us, and objections suggest themselves readily. The spirit of reform, however, is in the air, and when we reach a higher plane many things may seem wrong that now seem right.

THE PUBLIC HIGHWAY.

The Janesville Boosters, who have been touring the county for the past two or three days, with some twenty automobiles, have had a chance to try out the county roads, and they are at a loss to understand who is responsible for their condition.

It is generally understood that nineteen townships out of twenty in the county appropriated money for road work last year, and that the state gave each township an amount equal to its appropriation, thus creating a fund of from thirty to forty thousand dollars.

The county employs a superintendent who is supposed to be responsible for the way this money is expended, but after traveling over the most of the county the boosters say that it is difficult to locate a mile of good new road in any direction.

Between the creamery, four miles north of the city, and Old Milton, is a stretch of two miles of road which is practically impassable, and has been for the past two months.

The road was plowed up and scraped, in an attempt to grade, and the gravel dumped through the center for the whole stretch, is supposed to settle down in time, and become a roadway. It did not seem to occur to the builder that this work could have been done in sections, with some regard to the rights of the public.

There are some parts of the county where every farmer seems to be a law unto himself, in the matter of road building. The road may be perfectly good in front of his place, but about once a year he gets out with a plow and tears it up, and then scrapes the sod and loose dirt up in the center, and calls it a good job.

If a man in town should tear up the street in front of his house, in that way, he would be arrested and prosecuted for trespass, and yet he has just as much right to do it, as the man in the country. The road is no more a part of the farm than the street is a part of the town lot; both are public highways and belong to the public.

The repairing of country roads, as well as the building, should be under the supervision of a thoroughly competent superintendent, and if necessary the state should be called on to aid in supervising the work.

There is nothing that contributes so much to the value of the farm, as good roads, and with the material at hand in Rock county, there is every reason why the people should have the best roads in the state.

THE THEATRE.

That the theatre has some redeeming qualities, will be seen by the following news item of recent date:

"Opposition to the theatre on the part of the church without discrimination as to the character of particular dramas was called an unwarranted attitude by the Rev. Martin J. Mafor, pastor of the Hyde Park Methodist Episcopal church, in his sermon last evening.

"The law of the church," he said, "has been sufficient to keep po-the days when the law was most powerful in its influence. The dramatic instinct is a natural one and, therefore its gratification would appear to be legitimate."

The reverend gentleman is right, for the "law of the church" has long been a dead letter, as touching amusements and individual conscience.

Ignorance, on the part of many good people, is responsible for much of the prejudice which exists against the theatre. To their mind all theatres are alike bad, and yet they will shout themselves hoarse at a chautauqua vaudeville, or an amateur performance in the church.

The fact that some plays are demoralizing, is not a debatable question, and the fact that others are clean and wholesome is equally well established.

Two of the latter class of plays recently appeared in Janesville—"The Divorce Question," and "Kindling"—and every preacher in the land, as well as every church member would be profited by spending an evening with either of them.

They are two great sermons, which teach a spiritual as well as a moral lesson. "The Divorce question" and the attitude of the Catholic church in dealing with it, presents a side of the proposition seldom recognized, while "Kindling" has to do with a strata of society in the large cities, which many of us know nothing about. The difference between being right and being honest, is so vividly portrayed that it stimulates charity for the unfortunate. The theatre has its good side as well as its bad.

The state of Texas has appropriated $10,000,000 for text books with which to supply all the schools of the state for the next six years. One of the publishers has been ordered to substitute President-elect Wilson's picture by removing President Taft's, and an effort was made to cut out the picture of Abraham Lincoln, but Gov. Colquitt said he would resign rather than have Lincoln's picture eliminated.

The announcement of Governor McGovern congratulating himself on recent victory, is tinged with just enough wormwood to indicate that the breach between himself and his old-time friend, La Follette, is far from healed. According to the governor, the merry war is to go on. The senator is something of a fighter himself, and there is likely to be something doing all along the line.

MATRIMONIAL.

Dempsey-Conley.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Dempsey and Harry James Conley were wedded at St. Patrick's church at seven o'clock this morning by the Rev. Father Mahoney. They were attended by Miss Gertrude Conley and Joseph Dempsey, a sister of the groom and brother of the bride. The children's choir gave the musical part of the service. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Dempsey, 424 Cherry street, at which time were about forty invited guests. Mr. and Mrs. Conley left on a honeymoon trip to Milwaukee and Chicago and will return to the city early next week. They will reside on South High street.

Suspected of Theft: Harry Miller and John Fisher, local strangers, were taken into custody by the police this morning after the police had been notified that they attempted to dispose of some railroad car brasses at a South River street junk dealer's. It is also said that they tried to sell some old music box rolls. No evidence has been discovered of any theft being made in this vicinity, but the men will be held until a more thorough investigation is made. No railroad brass has been found by the police.

Twilight Club Tonight: An interesting discussion of public institutions in Janesville is anticipated at the meeting of the Twilight club at the Y. M. C. A. building this evening. George G. Sutherland is the leader.

Bargains:

Bargain is a word that is generally understood to mean more than ordinary value, and nowhere in the realms of merchandising is this so well exemplified as here, especially this week when extraordinary efforts have been put forth by every department head in the house to make his or her particular department show up best in the matter of sales at the end of the week, thus insuring shoppers the worth of their money many times over, and sending them away happy in the thought that it always pays best to buy at The Big Store.

"How did the Bird know that?"
It is more important to us that you should be pleased—than it is to you.

In toilet articles. In toilet articles at moderate prices. Our Beri Olive Oil is without question, one of the finest brands we know of. It pleases many. It will please you. ## CROWDS ATTEND THE OPENING OF DISPLAY AT THE AUDITORIUM

IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD OF A THOUSAND PEOPLE AT MER-CHANTS AND MANUFACTURERS
EXHIBITION LAST NIGHT

AFFAIR A BIG SUCCESS

Displays Are Bigger and Better Than Ever Before, And Plenty of Room is Afforded Exhibitors to Display Articles Attractively

Last evening marked the opening at the auditorium, building of the big Merchant's and Manufacturers' exhibition goods throughout the entire week. All through the afternoon workmen and decorators were putting the final touches on the booths for the displays, and by the time the building was thrown open, practically of them were completed and ready for the public to view. The crowd last night was exceptionally large for the opening night, and in the neighborhood of one thousand people, it is estimated, passed in and out of the doors of the building. The display, has aroused considerable interest among the townspeople, and among visitors from out of town and there was a continual throng passing up and down the aisles past the various booths from the time the doors were thrown open until closing time.
During the evening the Moose band gave a concert program, and they will play again at the auditorium this evening. The exhibition will be open afternoon and evening during the rest of the week, and is open to all visitors, no admission price being charged. During the afternoons, Lyle's string orchestra with piano accompaniment will play, but the evening's concerts will be by the Moose band. The program for tonight's concert is announced as follows:

"The Moose"..... Math
Spirit of Liberty..... Miller
The Charleotte..... Ashley
When I'm Alone I'm Lonesome..... Berlin
"Ethel"..... Barrar
Mammy's Shufflin' Dance..... Gideon
Sunshine and Roses..... Rolfe
K. of P. 2..... Rolfe
Twilight Echoes..... Miller
Algonquin..... Rockwell
Prospects of the exhibition, thus far are that it will far outrank anything of its kind ever before attempted in the city of Janesville. In every way the big display has been planned and executed on lines superior to anything conceived of in the previous "Made in Janesville" displays. The auditorium has afforded plenty of display room for the exhibitors, and is more convenient for the visitors, as all the manufactures and industries are concentrated in a comparatively compact space.

The number and variety of the manufactures of the city are well illustrated in the exhibition, which has its educational as well as commercial value, and many of the people of the city are learning more of what its business interests are doing. Aside from the attractiveness of the displays, which make it well worth one's time to attend, the exhibition teaches many things concerning Janesville manufactures, and what her factories are accomplishing.

The hall itself is most handsomely decorated, the work having been done by Edward Amerpohl and his corps of assistants. The barren ugliness of rafters and ceiling has been hidden by paper streamers with gay-colored leaves and other drapings; Japanese lanterns add an Oriental effect, and underneath the delicate tints of the decorations of the booths add to the beauty of the picture. With the lights

John Dorsey and Thomas Cruise, arraigned in the municipal court this morning charged with being found intoxicated, had their sentences suspended on promising to leave the city at once and stay away. "If you catch me inside of town inside of five minutes you can do as you like with me."

PARTY OF LIMA PEOPLE IN A SERIOUS RUNAWAY

Mr. and Mrs. Zillmer and Several Others Badly Injured in Accident Saturday Evening.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Lima, Nov. 11.—As Mr. and Mrs. Zillmer were driving with friends to August Stetter's on Saturday evening, the horses became frightened and ran away, throwing the occupants out and quite severely injuring some of them. Mr. and Mrs. Zillmer are under the care of Dr. H. C. Miller of Whitewater. Broken ribs and bruises are the main injuries. A derailed freight car a mile west of town delayed traffic several hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Masterson entertained relatives from Whitewater and Palmyra, Sunday.

The box social at M. Gnatzig's on Saturday evening for the benefit of the white school house, netted teacher and pupils $23.75.

There is about to be a change made in our telephone system.

COUNCIL MAY REVISE GARBAGE ORDINANCE

Present Measure Not Satisfactory—Provisions As To Alleys Should Be More Stringent.

Important changes in the garbage collection ordinance will probably be made by the council within the next few months, according to Mayor James A. Fahrens. The present measure, enacted by the council early last summer, has not proved as satisfactory as had been hoped. It is not sufficiently stringent in some respects, especially those provisions concerning the littering of alleys. The ordinance provides a penalty for failure to remove garbage at stated intervals, but this provision is difficult to enforce for the reason that the facilities for collection are inadequate and uncertain.

Municipal collection offers a solution for this problem, but presents a difficulty of its own, that of equitably apportioning the cost. A tax to defray the cost of collection, could not well be other than a flat rate, and this would result in the large producers of garbage paying no more than the small producers. A possible solution is the levying of a tax for the purpose according to industries, one rate for hotels and restaurants, another for groceries, another for householders, etc. It might also be possible to establish a zone system, compelling, for instance, the collection of all garbage within the fire limits at a prescribed rate and interval, and of that outside the fire limits at a less frequent interval and at a lower rate.

The council has renewed its study of the garbage collection problem and will study the system of other cities extensively before undertaking a revision of the existing ordinance. The problem is a serious one in many cities, especially in the smaller ones where conditions do not warrant extensive outlays for collection equipment or incinerators.

CONTRACT LET FOR THE NEW BRIDGE

Cleary, White Company of Chicago Will Build New Railroad Bridge Across Rock River.

The contract for the construction of the new railroad bridge across Rock river to be used jointly by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and the Chicago & Northwestern railroads and to replace the present structure across the river has been let to the Cleary, White company of Chicago, railroad contractors, and work on the bridge will be commenced immediately. It was expected that a bridge crew would arrive from Rockaway, Wis., today to commence the work. Mr. Tufts, foreman of the crew which has been working at Reedsburg, was in the city a few days ago, and in a conversation with local railroad officials, stated that he would be here today. The work will probably be carried on all through the winter and the bridge completed in the spring if possible. The bridge will be of the most modern type, all of steel and concrete and absolutely fireproof, the ties being the only wood used. The blocks now being made near the Hanson furniture factory will be used on top of the bridge instead of for the pier, being used to protect the ties from sparks falling from the fireboxes of locomotives.

WASHINGTON STREET PAVING SOON DONE

Excavation Practically Completed—East Side Open To Travel As Far As Moie Avenue.

With the east side of Washington street open to travel from Mineral Point to Garland avenue, the surface coat of stone from that point to the city limits ready for rolling, practically all excavation on the west side finished and most of the subgrade ready, the completion of the macadam pavement on that well-traveled thoroughfare is soon in sight. Excavating is being done between Garland and Moie avenues, and that between Magnolia and Ashland avenues will probably be finished today. The subgrade between Ashland and Garland avenues is ready for crushed stone. The steam roller is being used on the west side of the street between Maple Court and Magnolia avenue. Stone has not yet been placed between the street railway tracks on that section of the street. Because of the demand for the steam roller on other city work Superintendent Croft has been delayed somewhat in the finishing but hopes to have the entire east side open to travel within a few days. The city will not oil Washington street this fall as it has not the necessary machinery or materials. Furthermore, oiling done in cool weather does not give nearly as good results as when done under a hot sun. By spring the macadam will be more compact and have a harder and more lustrous surface.

WOMAN PAYS A FINE FOR SPEEDING AUTO

Miss Anna Otto Plead Guilty in Municipal Court This Morning To Violating City Ordinance.

Miss Anna Otto plead guilty before Judge Fifield this morning to a charge of driving an automobile at a speed in excess of eight miles an hour in violation of the city ordinance, and was fined $10 and costs amounted to $2.60. Chief of Police Appleby was a witness of the violation. With District Attorney Dandridge he was driving down Milwaukee street near the corner of River street. Miss Otto came around the corner at a speed of from twelve to fifteen miles an hour, nearly striking an elderly woman who was crossing the street. Because of the chief's shouted warning she drew back just in time to avoid being struck. Chief Appleby's rig also narrowly escaped being hit. Miss Otto was driving the automobile of Christy Ryan, of whose restaurant she has charge, and was accompanied by three or four lady friends. This is the first speeding prosecution to be brought under the revised city ordinance governing the subject; the others brought this summer were under the state law. Eight miles is the legal limit in the business district of the city.

SYRUP OF FIGS IS BEST FOR A CHILD

IF ITS LITTLE TONGUE IS COATED, BREATH FEVERISH, STOMACH SOUR AND BOWELS CLOGGED.

Every mother immediately realizes after giving her child delicious Syrup of Figs that this is the ideal laxative and physic for the children. Nothing else regulates the little ones' stomach, liver and bowels so promptly, so gently, so effectively, besides, they dearly love its delightful fig taste.

If your child isn't feeling well, resting nicely, eating regularly and acting naturally it is a sure sign that its little insides need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or your little one has stomach-ache, diarrhea, sore throat full of cold, tongue coated, give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs and in a few hours all the foul, constipated, clogged up waste, undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of its little bowels without nausea, griping or weakness, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics, it cannot be harmful. Mothers should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator needed—a little given today will save a sick child tomorrow.

Full directions for children of all ages and grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious, tasty, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

DAILY DIET AND HEALTH HINTS By DR. T. J. ALLEN Food Specialist

MILK DIET NOT FOR ALL.

Milk contains every element needed for brain and body building. It is, however, the natural food of the infant, not of the adult. Nature gradually adapts the young animal to the food of the mother, the alimentary canal developing from the infant to the adult stage which is adjusted to the adult's food.

In the infant the stomach is much smaller and the liver larger, relatively, than in the adult. Milk is digested principally in the intestine, and accordingly the upper part of the infant's food tube is nearly straight, allowing of ready passage of the milk from the stomach. And yet the difficulty of digesting the coarser curd of cow's milk is so great that thousands of infants die solely from milk poisoning.

If an exclusive milk diet is adopted by an adult the evils of mixing foods are at once avoided and that means a decided gain. Moreover, the subject may have been suffering from lack of one or more of the mineral elements of food, all of which are contained in milk; and if the motor action of the stomach is normal, the net result may be good, though by no means the best possible; but if the milk lies long in the stomach, if the liver is weak, toxic poisoning is the necessary result, as serious as meat poisoning.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

ONCE upon a time there was a man who could not see what his wife did with all her time.

The house and the family were small, he pointed out, and with the washing done outside he could not see how she could be busy all day long.

"It's the interruptions as much as anything else," explained the patient lady. "There's the telephone and callers and— Oh, yes," interrupted the know-it-all man. "I suppose there are interruptions but, of course, they can't take more than a few minutes each day. I really can't see what you do with all your time."

Now it so happened that the know-it-all man was staying home with a sprained wrist one day, when his wife was putting up preserves. Although unfit to go to town to work, he was not really sick, and the patient lady had a canny idea.

"Would you mind, dear," she inquired sweetly, "attending to the telephone and the door, etc., just for this morning? I want to get this fruit put up so that I can have the afternoon with you, and if only I could be entirely free from interruptions—"

"Why certainly, my dear," said the know-it-all man. "Don't you step out of the kitchen this morning and I'll attend to everything and find out what all this interruption business means."

And this is what it meant:

At nine o'clock the know-it-all man settled down before the living-room fire with a book he expected to finish that morning.

9:02—Back door bell. The man from the grocery for the day's order. The know-it-all man left his reading at 9:10.

9:18—Telephone bell. After a five-minute wait at the telephone the know-it-all man is sweetly informed, "I beg your pardon: I called you by mistake."

9:35—The man from the provision store for the day's order.

10:18—After about half an hour of uninterrupted reading, the telephone bell rings. It is one of his wife's friends, but true to his promise her husband does not summon her from the kitchen. When he gets back to his book he is surprised to hear the half hour strike.

10:43—A book agent. The know-it-all man thinks he has gotten off cheaply with a mere loss of fifteen minutes of time.

11:10—Two ladies from the church to solicit something for the next supper. Fifteen minutes gone.

11:48—Neighbor comes in to borrow a cup of sugar.

11:55—The gas meter man.

12:05—Telephone call from married daughter.

12:15—Delivery boy from the grocery.

12:20—School girl selling soap for premium.

12:28—Boy from the tailor's with the know-it-all man's trousers.

At twelve-thirty his wife appeared. "Oh, I've accomplished so much," she announced. "Have you finished the book, dear?"

"I have NOT," said the know-it-all man. "Was it a conspiracy?"

Despite her denial he still pretends to think it was. Nevertheless he doesn't have any more to say about what his wife does with all her time.

The Quickest, Simplest Cough Cure

Easily and Cheaply Made at Home. Saves You $2.

This recipe makes a pint of cough syrup—enough to last a family a long time. You couldn't buy as much or as good cough syrup for $2.50. Simple as it is, it gives almost instant relief and usually stops the most obstinate cough in 24 hours. This is partly due to the fact that it is slightly laxative, stimulates the appetite and has an excellent tonic effect. It is pleasant to take—children like it. An excellent remedy, too, for whooping cough, croup, sore lungs, asthma, throat troubles, etc.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 3/4 pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

Pinex is one of the oldest and best known remedial agents for the throat membranes. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in quaiaccol and all the other natural healing elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The prompt results from this recipe have endeared it to thousands of housewives in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

When hanging out clothes this winter, have a bag made from an old lace curtain to hold the small pieces like delicate collars, fine handkerchiefs and center pieces. They will not be lost and will dry quite well in the bag.

Bags of old curtains are also useful to hold lettuce after washing. Hang in a cool place.

Toast for an invalid, even when used with a poached egg, is easier to handle if cut in quarters and put together closely before the egg is dropped on it.

When selling an apron or a garment at a fair, cut the pattern out of tissue paper, pin it to the apron and sell it with it. Such a custom has found great favor where tried.

Sprinkle clothes with hot water and they will be more evenly damp and iron better.

When popping corn, let cold water run over the popper of corn, then shake and dry a while before popping. This corn will be large and have no hard centers or old bachelors who won't pop.

When keeping a meal warm on a gas stove, have the food in bowls and set them in a pan of hot water that may be kept warm by using the small burner with an asbestos mat over it.

Instead of saucers for the baby to wear in cold weather, use long-sleeved waists of flannel that may be worn under the little white dresses, and so will always be sweet and neat.

A pretty woody centerpiece may be made by using a wooden chopping bowl, vines and ferns, or vines and fruit.

To serve fifty people at a church it will take two pounds of coffee, two quarts of cream, seven loaves of cake, a pound of loaf sugar, two pounds of butter, five loaves of bread and four pounds of boiled ham, less if it is chopped and mixed with pickles and salad dressing for the sandwiches. Two gallons of ice cream is sufficient for fifty people.

Most Prized of Gems.

The sapphires of Ceylon are among the most beautiful gems in the world. They range from soft, velvety blue to peacock blue, graduating to almost faultless white. Sapphires are also found in greens and yellows, the former shade being known as the Oriental emerald, and the latter as the Oriental topaz. There is also a red sapphire, or Ceylon ruby, which is as valuable as the finest Burmese rubies.

Why It Takes Time to Shop

HE approached the floorwalker, as being the man of knowledge, and asked pleasantly. "Can you tell me where I can find knitted sleeping caps?"

He looked slightly puzzled. "Knitted sleeping caps?" he responded dubiously.

"Yes. For outdoor sleeping. One needs something to protect the head, you know."

"Yes, to be sure. They are in the Muslin Underwear Department."

"But they aren't underwear."

"No. But the flannelette nightgowns are there, and—"

"But these aren't flannelette," she objected.

"I understand," he said soothingly. "But all such things are together. Fourth floor; take the elevator."

So she took the elevator, though she thought whimsically that more correctly, it took her, and journeyed to the fourth floor.

"I am looking for knitted sleeping caps," she explained to a saleswoman in the Muslin Underwear Department, "something to wear on the head for sleeping outdoors."

The saleswoman flung out a flannelette nightgown with a hood. "No, that isn't what I want. I just want a cap for the head. It is made purposely for sleeping outdoors. It is knitted."

"You'll find the knitted things in the Art Needlework," said the saleswoman, gathering up her nightgown.

"But this isn't exactly art needlework—"

"All the knitted goods are there," replied the saleswoman, putting the nightgown in a drawer, and turning away.

So to the Art Needlework fared the searcher for a night cap, and once more told the tale of her needs.

"We have these knitted motor toques," said the saleswoman.

"No, they are not what I want. These sleeping caps are made purposely for sleeping outdoors. They are knitted to fit over the head and come well down over the forehead."

The saleswoman's face showed a gleam of intelligence. "I know," she said. "You'll find them in the Hosiery Department."

"Hosiery!"

"Yes. All the knitted things are there. It's the Subway Gallery in the basement."

So to the basement the woman journeyed and interviewed the stocking counter.

The saleswoman shook her head. "You should have gone to the Knit Underwear counter," she said with a note of mild reproach in her voice. And as the searcher turned away, she heard the saleswoman say to a fellow-clerk: "They'll be coming here for wash tubs next."

Wearily she leaned against the Knit Underwear counter. "Have you knitted sleeping caps?" she asked a salesman.

"Notion counter," he said briskly.

He spoke so confidently hope, revived, and she turned her footsteps toward the notion counter.

"You'll find them," said the saleswoman in reply to her inquiry.

"No, I won't," replied the woman firmly. "They are not in house furnishings, nor in harness supplies, nor yet in photographic goods nor jewelry. The shoe department hasn't got them, nor gloves. In fact, I don't think they are in the store."

At this, the saleswoman woke up. "Why don't you try the office of the manufacturer?" she asked. "It's right down Main street. I'll look up the number in the phone book."

This she did, and confident the quest was now at an end, the worn and weary searcher set forth down Main street. But at the number given there was no knit goods office, and nobody in the neighborhood knew of any. For a moment, she looked at a department store across the street. But her watch told her the morning was gone, her feet told her she was dead tired, and her common sense told her to go home; and sleep indoors like ordinary mortals.

And when her husband asked her that night if she had been shopping she said, "No. Hunting." Whereat he made some sarcastic remarks about the time women waste fooling around in the shops. But she was too tired to open up an argument.

A WOMAN'S OBSERVATIONS

Edna K. Woolley

the stores which gets me disgruntled.

"I have to pay extra for everything I want," she explained. "Besides that, there's a sort of sneer sometimes covered, but often quite open, on the lips of the slim young thing that waits on me."

"If I happen to see something in wearing apparel that I want, and announce to the clerk that my waist measure is 36, she will look me over with a sort of cool insolence and inform me that they don't carry such large sizes in stock. If I want a ready-made dress, the saleswoman

QUIT STRUGGLING.

Tight lacing killed a man the other day.

"You see, he tried to look like a woman. He was what the stage calls a 'female impersonator.' The poor man was in fear of losing his job because he was getting fat. So he pulled the corset strings tighter and injured internal organs to such an extent that he finally collapsed during the performance at the theatre and died a few hours later."

Although the apparently uncorseted figure is the fashion now, there are still women who lace. Stout women are trussed up until they are red and purple in the face. Girls still going to school are lacing in order to wear a small sized belt.

There are married women who are depending upon their corset to preserve a slender waistline because they have heard their husbands ridicule fat women.

The truth is that a large percentage of women still lace and many of women's ills are still issuing from taut corset strings. Yet each one will assure you that she "can turn around in her corset, and will lay her physical troubles to anything but lacing."

Not long ago, at a dinner party, one of the women guests was taken ill. Fortunately a doctor was also a guest. He at once directed that she should be unlaced.

"Nothing but tight lacing," was his diagnosis. "You are making yourself an invalid for life," he told the patient.

"But what am I going to do?" she wailed. "I've always had a good form, and I'm getting stout. My stomach is so large that I simply must put on a corset. My husband doesn't like stout women, and I lace up the first thing in the morning. I don't dare take off my corset until I retire at night, for if I did I would never be able to get it on again during the day."

"I'll talk to your husband," said the doctor. "And let me tell you, you'll be a good deal better looking if you have a comfortable look in your face, than if you wear the expression you have had all evening."

"I don't mind getting stout," said another woman who, though large and thick, as she humorously expresses it, "because I know I'm not clumsy and I haven't that lumpy look that so many fat people have. I keep myself in good physical condition and I wear corsets that fit. But is the attitude that I meet in regards me hopelessly. Every dress-maker tells me to get a new corset, and if I don't like her fit she tells me stout people are so hard to please and she simply CAN'T make me look slender—when what I want is a fit, not a new shape.

"Oh, I struggled at first to be thin, just like everybody else. But I'm like the old maid who finally resigned herself to single blessedness. I'm quite comfortable and happy since I quite struggling, in spite of all the pitying remarks about my size."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

To Save Burnt Hands and Aprons—Nearly every kitchen has some "hot dish holders" made by taking two pieces of gingham about six inches square with a layer of cotton batting same size. Put batting between gingham and stitch both ways on machine. Finish by sewing bias piece of gingham around the edge and a loop on one corner with which to hang holder. I then made a belt of muslin and took two narrow pieces (of same) about 12 to 13 inches long. Sew a holder on each strip, a strip on each side of belt. Put belt on while cooking or baking and it will save lots of trouble.

To remove stubborn spots from white dress, etc., rub them with a good white scouring soap. I was often bothered to get tips of gloves clean, when I discovered this. It is also good for small articles when one is in a hurry, and whitens also.

To save labor and kalsomine, I make one package of kalsomine do the work of two in this way: Make a strong suds of laundry soap in a separate vessel and brush the wall with it until the lather is formed. Prepare one square yard at a time, and before it is dry apply the kalsomine. It works particularly well on hard, grainy plaster. The color strikes in at once and is free from streaks.

In making feather pillows, enclose feathers in a case of heavy unbleached muslin, before putting on ticking. Protected in this way the feathers never need renovating and the outside ticking may easily be removed and laundered.

Use for Old Window Shade—Hang in front of fruit shelves in the cellar, to keep out light and aid in preserving the flavor and color of fruits and berries. Or it can be hung in front of pantry shelves to keep out dust.

Graham Pudding—Two cups graham flour, one cup sweet milk, one cup molasses with two small teaspoons soda stirred into it, one cup currants or seeded raisins, and a half-teaspoon salt. Steam two hours. Serve with lemon sauce. This makes enough for 10 or 12 portions. It can be reheated if any is left over.

Baking Powder Biscuits

Light as a Feather

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

Baking Powder Biscuits made by this recipe are so far ahead of ordinary baking powder biscuits that, if once tried, you will never use any other recipe. Try it the next time you run short of bread. Save this recipe.

Three cups flour; 1/4 to 1/2 cup shortening; 3 level teaspoonsful K.C. Baking Powder; about 1 cup milk or water; 1 teaspoonful salt.

Sift three times, the flour, salt and baking powder. Work into the flour the shortening, using lard or butter for shortening. Then mix to a very soft dough with the milk. The softer the dough enters the oven, the lighter it comes out. Never knead baking powder biscuits; press the dough into shape and roll lightly. Cut in small shapes and bake on a sheet or very shallow pan in a hot oven. In placing biscuits in the pans place well apart, not allowing edges to touch. Small biscuits are better than large ones. Large biscuits do not have the proper amount of time to raise and bake.

Have you seen the new K.C. Cook's Book? Brimful of appetizing recipes that simply must be successful every time if the few simple directions are carefully followed. You would gladly pay 50 cents for this valuable book, yet we send it absolutely free upon receipt of the colored certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K.C. Baking Powder. JAMES MFG. CO., Chicago. Small cans do not have Cook's Book certificate.

TERRIBLE ITCHING AND BURNING

Scalp Eczema for About Five Years. Form of Ringworm. Thick, Rough Scale. Entirely Well After Using Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

Theresa, Mo.—“I was troubled with scalp eczema for about five years and tried everything I heard of but all to no avail. The doctor told me I would have to have my head shaved. Being a woman I hated the idea of that. I was told by a friend that the Cuticura Remedies would do me good. This spring I purchased two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and one cake of Cuticura Soap. After using one box of Cuticura Ointment I considered the cure permanent, but continued to use it to make sure and used about one-half the other box. Now I am entirely well. I also used the Cuticura Soap.

“The disease began on the back of my head, taking the form of a ringworm only more severe, rising to a thick, rough scale that would come off when soaked with oil or warm water, bringing a few hairs each time, but in a few days would form again, larger each time, and spreading until the entire back of the head was covered with the scale. This was accompanied by a terrible itching and burning sensation. Now my head is completely well and my hair growing nicely.” (Signed) Mrs. L. G. Clark, Mar. 26, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard to Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston, Mass. Under-faced men should use Cuticura Soap shaving stick, 25c. Sample free.

SIDEWALK KETCHES.

WHY WHO'S WHO.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

EVERY man has his hobby. Some people cultivate the open-faced Angora cat, which is a hot-house product with long, trailing whiskers and a receding chin, while others buy old coins and are stung with monotonous regularity. The most expensive hobby in this country, however, is the one owned by J. Pierpont Morgan, who runs a bank in New York which makes the United States mint look like a small change parlor in January.

Mr. Morgan's hobby is old paintings, manuscripts and curios, with a choice side line in the form of bright, uncut, coupon bonds. No matter where Mr. Morgan goes, he is pursued by this hobby, which steals up on him with a fountain pen in one hand and a check book in the other. Every year he goes to Europe and brings up some falling penny by buying a few old masters which uncutivated people take for premium chromos given in exchange for tobacco tins.

Mr. Morgan thinks nothing of throwing the price of a battleship into one of Mr. Rembrandt's portraits of somebody who is more or less dead. He is a good judge of other people's paintings and rarely buys the same masterpiece twice in succession.

Aside from this harmless hobby, Mr. Morgan does a neat business in the way of averting financial panics. Whenever some captain of industry is about to fail in a hurried and unostentatious manner, Mr. Morgan absorbs him for the good of the order at the rate of $3,000,000 net profit per absorb. This makes everybody feel good but the ultimate consumer, who rears up in the muckraking magazines and squeals loudly about watered stock.

Mr. Morgan is well along in years, but he can hear and see a good deal. He is just as far as he ever could. He is an ardent churchman and can repeat the collect from memory. He is more familiar, however, with the other kind of collect—the kind which comes wrapped up in 35 per cent dividends.

Woman's Beauty Is Based on Health

To Have Health, Bowel Movement Is Absolutely Necessary—How Best to Obtain It.

If woman's beauty depended upon cosmetics every woman would be a picture of loveliness. But beauty lies deeper than that. It lies in health. In the majority of cases the basis of health, and the cause of sickness, can be traced to the action of the bowels.

The headaches, the lassitude, the sallow skin and the listless eyes are usually due to constipation. So many things that women do habitually conduce to this trouble. They do not eat carefully, they eat indigestible foods because the foods are served enough. But they do not exercise enough. May be it is important that the condition should be corrected.

An ideal remedy for women, and one especially suited to their delicate requirements, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which thousands of women endorse highly, among them Mrs. Amelia Bishop, Lawrenceburg, Ind., and Mrs. William J. Bell, 837 33d St., Milwaukee, Wis., who have it constantly in the house to meet such emergencies. All the family can use Syrup Pepsin, for thousands of mothers give it to babies and children. It is also admirably suited to the requirements of elderly people, in fact to all who by reason of age or infirmity cannot stand harsh salts, cathartics, pills or purgatives. These should always be avoided for that day, while their effect is only for that day, at best, a genuine remedy like Syrup Pepsin acts mildly but permanently.

It can be conveniently obtained at any drug store at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. You will find it gentle in action, pleasant in taste, and free from gripping, and its tonic properties have a distinct value to women. It is the most widely used laxative-remedy in America today and thousands of families are now without it.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin, you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 413 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

Let Resinol stop your skin-trouble

Have you suffered for weeks, months or even years with eczema or some other itching, burning, unsightly eruption? Have you tried treatment after treatment in vain, and, perhaps, given up in despair? Thousands whose skins are now clear have gone through this same experience. As a result they clear Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap.

Resinol, antiseptic Resinol balsams stopped the itching instantly and soon all trace of the disease was gone. Why don't you let Resinol stop your skin-trouble, too?

ITCHING ECZEMA ON HAND 10 YEARS

Boston, Mass., June 5, 1912: "About ten years ago I became afflicted with eczema on my right hand. First the skin became scaly, then large, ideal, household remedies cracked in the palm and between the fingers, at times bleeding, the skin peeling up rough and as painful as dandruff. I tried many of the advertised remedies with acids, cuts, ointments, but no good result. About three months ago I bought a jar of Resinol Ointment and a cake of Resinol Soap (25c) and Resinol Lotion (50c) and the first application I got relief. I have used only two jars of Resinol Ointment and one jar of Resinol Lotion and feel as well as ever. I do, but for a genuine skin cure, my own Resinol, and use soaps and cleansers of each, write to Dept. (tagged) to Resinol, but no ill-effects now." 105, Resinol Chem. Co., Baltimore, Md.

Proves Sure Cure For Rheumatism

Quickly Eases Stiff, Sore, Swollen Joints and Muscles—Drives All Rheumatic Pains Away.

It is needless to suffer any longer with rheumatism, and be all crippled up, and bent out of shape with its heart-wrenching pains, when you can get relief so quickly and permanently cured. Rheumatism comes from weak, inactive kidneys, that fail to filter from the blood, the poisonous waste matter and uric acid; and it is useless to rub on liniments or take ordinary remedies to relieve the pain. This only prolongs the misery and can't possibly cure you.

The only way to cure rheumatism is to remove the cause. The new discovery, Croxone, positively does this. It neutralizes and dissolves all the poisonous substances and uric acid that lodge in the joints and muscles, to scratch, and irritate take it into the human system without results. You will find relief from the first few doses, and you will be surprised how quickly all your misery and suffering will end.

An original package of Croxone costs but a trifle at any first class drug store. All druggists are authorized to sell it on a positive money-back guarantee. Three doses a day for a few days is usually all that is ever needed to cure the worst backache or overcome urinary disorders.

DINNER STORIES

A Good Tongue.

Family Physician—I am afraid you have been eating too much cake and sweet stuff. Let me see your tongue.

Little Girl—Oh, you can look at it, but it won't tell!

A story is told of a certain mayor of Cork, who headed a deputation to the emperor of the French, and commenced an oration to his majesty in what he conceived to be the French tongue. "Pardon me," said the emperor, after he had listened to the speech with much patience; "English I know fairly well; but, I regret to say, I have never had an opportunity of studying the Irish language!"

Roscoe Conkling came into Charles O'Connor's office one day in quite a nervous state. "You seem to be very much excited, Mr. Conkling," said Mr. O'Connor, as Roscoe walked up and down the room. "Yes, I'm provoked. I am provoked," said Mr. Conkling; "I never had a client dissatisfied about my fee before." "Well, what's the matter?" asked O'Connor.

"Why, I defended Gibbons for arson, you know. He was convicted, but I did hard work for him. I took him to the superior court and he was convicted; then to the supreme court, and the supreme court confirmed the judgment and gave him ten years. I charged him six hundred dollars, and Gibbons is grumbling about it—says it is too much. Now, Mr. O'Connor, I ask you, was that too much?" "Well," said O'Connor very deliberately, "of course you did a great deal of work, and six hundred dollars is not a big fee; but to be frank with you, Mr. Conkling, my deliberate opinion is that he might have been convicted for less money."

A New York theatrical agent was condemning at the Colony Club the shrewish, scolding type of woman. "You can always tell her," said he. "If you can't tell her in one way you can tell her in another."

"I said to a woman the other Sunday: 'Why my dear, how hoarse you are.'"

"Yes," she answered, angrily.

"My husband was out late last night."

An heiress married a foreigner who was, she understood, a count; but it turned out that he was only a waiter. When she discovered his true station, she reproached the man bitterly. "I knew I wasn't getting wealth with you," she said, "but I thought I was getting family." "So you are getting family, my dear," her husband replied, and, with a nasty laugh, he opened a door and revealed six little children. "See, all these are ours. I forgot to tell you I was a widower."

Robert Louis Stevenson once went to hear Charles Halle play the piano at the Queen's Hall. After the performance Stevenson, in his black shirt, walked in silence out Regent street to Oxford Circus and, in a slow, meditative voice, pronounced this excellent criticism on the English musician he had heard: "The manner of the elderly statesman at the piano was somewhat austere and chilling."

A certain company promoter once built a castle on a mountain peak. As he showed the gray, mediaeval-looking pile to a friend, he said: "I don't know what to call it. What name do you advise?" "It looks like those Scotch castles in the Highlands," said the friend. "Why not call it Dunrobin?" "Yes, that would be a good name," said the millionaire; "only, you see I have no intention of retiring yet."

"A Book of Scotch Humor" illustrates anew of a native of Anandale the saying that a prophet is not without honor save in his own country. "I ken them a'," said the rustic, speaking of the Carlyles. "Jock's a doctor about London. Tam's a harp-scarn kind o' chiel, an' wreats book an' that. But Jamie—yon's his farm you see owre yonder. Jamie's the man o' that family, an' I'm proud to say I ken him. Jamie's Carlyle, sir, feeds the best swine that come into Dumfries market."

A little boy swallowed a coin and his frantic mother immediately called the family doctor. When he arrived the mother was in hysterics, thinking her son was about to die. The physician looked the smiling youngster over and in a solemn voice asked: "Who is your pastor?" This caused more tears, and in a trembling tone she inquired: "Oh, doctor, is it as serious as that?" The doctor repeated the question and this time the mother replied: "Oh, go to the Christian church." The physician looked puzzled for a moment, and then said: "Yes, I know your pastor. Better send for him; he is the best man to raise money that I know."

Josephus Daniels, of North Carolina, was away from his home in Raleigh for a long time during the campaign, inasmuch as he was actively concerned in the Wilson presidential campaign.

Josephus has in his household an old negro mammy who has been with the family for many years. A short time ago the mammy came in to Mrs. Daniels and said: "Whar's Mistuh Joe? Why don't he come home?"

"Why," Mrs. Daniels replied, "he's up in New York trying to elect a president."

"Who-all's runnin' this year?" mammy asked.

"Mr. Wilson and Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt," Mrs. Daniels told her. "Lan' sakes!" exclaimed the old woman. "I thought Mistuh Bryan mos' inginnerrally run!"

"Is that really the Rock of Gibraltar?" inquired the lady tourist of the captain as the ship from New York was entering the Mediterranean.

"It is, madam," said the captain. "Then where is the insurance sign?" she demanded.

"Speaking of Wallace Irwin's Japanese Schoolboy of Thirty-Five."

said a San Francisco newspaper man, reminds me of our cook. My wife went into the kitchen the other morning and asked Togo what we were going to have for breakfast.

"Hash, my darling," Togo replied very solemnly.

"My wife explained that he had made a mistake in his English, but Togo was perfectly positive that he had been taught this phrase at school. Next day he brought her his song book and triumphantly showed her Hash, My Darling, Go to Sleep."

Two old cronies had been sitting in a cafe on Cortlandt street one Saturday afternoon for several hours, and were pretty much the worst for their lengthy tete-a-tete.

"What is your nationality anyway, Jim?" asked one.

"Well, I'll tell you, Bob. My father came from Glasgow, so I'm half Scotch."

"And the other half seltzer," I guess," put in his companion.

Chicago &amp; Northwestern.

NEW BELT LINE NORTH OF CHICAGO IS COMPLETED.

Des Plaines Valley Line For Handling Of Freight Traffic Has Been Finished by The Northwestern.

Announcement has been made by the Northwestern railroad of the completion of the new Des Plaines Valley Line a new belt line north of Chicago, for the handling of freight. The new line reaches from Proviso, Ill., five and a half miles west of the city to Des Plaines, on the Wisconsin division between Chicago and Janesville and northward to a point on the Chicago-Milwaukee line, just south of Blodgett, Illinois.

CAR REPAIR FORCE AT NEW YARDS RUSHED WITH WORK.

Northwestern Company Has About Thirty-five Men at Work and Car Repair Tracks Are Full.

With shipments of wheat in the northwest to handle, and the annual shortage of cars at hand, the Northwestern railroad in this city is doing all it can to get ready for use those cars which have been ordered out of service as being in "bad order." Every fall on the railroads sees a shortage of cars to handle the demand to haul freight, and all available cars are put into service. At the local yards a force of from thirty to thirty-five men have been at work and the repair work is being turned out as fast as possible. The repair tracks at the South Janesville yards are full of "bad orders" and as fast as cars are repaired, it seems, there are others which need repairs. A train of sixty-eight cars in "bad order" was sent up from Chicago the latter part of last week to the local yards to be sent on north as soon as repaired.

The examining car has been sta-

"CASCARETS" FOR A SICK, SOUR STOMACH.

Gently but Thoroughly Cleanse and Regulate Your Stomach, Liver and Bowels While You Sleep.

"That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any."

Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, move the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good gentle cleansing, too.

HAVE YOU MET HIM?

It isn't any surprise to me I knew it all the while. I could see long ago that Bill and Ted would be beaten by a mile. After election you meet this fellow wherever you may go. He'll triumphantly greet you on the street and say, I told you so.

Surprise me, no 'twas as plain to me as the nose that's on my face. For the past three weeks or longer I knew who'd win the race. You've met this fellow haven't you and heard him proudly crow. The morning after election as he says, I told you so.

I knew Ted and Bill were wasting wind with all their idle talk. For I could see a month ago 'twas Wilson in a walk. When the result is known you'll meet him for he isn't one bit slow. To inform you when he meets you, Old boy I told you so.

I've known since last September that neither Ted or Bill would win. I must say it was very plain to me that Wilson would see it. The counts now made and you'll meet him, this post election blow. He'll grasp your hand and then exclaim Old boy I told you so.

For over two months back my friend, its been very plain to me. In fact, I've known since last July who the lucky man would be. You sure have met this fellow some where down here below. The fellow that nudges you in the ribs and says, I told you so.

The result is no surprise to me its not the least strange go that there would be a change. This line of talk he gives to all black, white and friend and foe. You'll know him when you meet him, he'll say, I told you so.

After election you're bound to meet this chap wherever you roam. This wise guy whose anatomy is topped with an empty dome. If he gave a thought to results before election his head he often scratched. For any chump can count the chickens as soon as they are hatched.

A MODERN SIDNEY.

When you visit the city of Washington go to Arlington cemetery. Among the other monuments of valor and patriotism you will find one with this inscription:

"Never mind me. I am all right. Look after the other fellows."

If you will go to the newspaper files you will find the story of the heroic ending of Midshipman James Crouse, who died from injuries received in an explosion in the turret of the battleship Georgia while at target practice on Cape Cod bay.

Crouse was only nineteen. He was at work at one of the guns in the turret. His classmate and chum, Midshipman Goldthwaite, served another gun. The latter died from his injuries inside of two hours.

Crouse, frightfully wounded and badly burned, hearing cries for help, retraced his steps toward the hospital, took hold and helped to care for the wounded seamen.

While he was gallantly helping in this work attention was called to his own deplorable condition. It was then he uttered the noble words that are carved on his monument.

"Never mind me. I am all right. Look after the other fellows."

Taken to the hospital, he died unflinchingly.

And that is all. That is to say, that is all the newspaper stories tell of this American lad's heroic sacrifice. But it is not all that is worth saying, because—

"Such an act of sublime self abnegation is greater than any sermon, grander than any poem, finer than any symphony, more beautiful than any picture."

It is a story of divinity revealing itself in flesh—a moment of incarnation—the highest expression of unselfishness.

One instinctively thinks of the dying Sidney, who on the battlefield of Zutphen pushed the proffered cup of water from his own parched lips and said, indicating a nearby soldier who looked longingly at the cup:

"Give it to him. His need is greater than mine."

The strapping Crouse was kin of soul to the gallant Sidney and to all the heroic souls of history.

His character? It is all there—on the monument.

Silk Umbrellas.

Umbrellas when not in use should be left open. Never put away while damp, and do not allow them to stand in a dusty place, as this rots the silk more than any other cause. When a small hole or cut appears in a silk umbrella it may be mended with a piece of black court plaster or mending tissue.

Little Satisfaction. A mummy gets blamed little satisfaction from winning the endurance prize.—Atchison Globe.

As long as I had on my back I would feel better, but when I would get up those bearing down pains would come back, and the doctor said I had female trouble. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was the only medicine that helped me and I have been growing stronger ever since I commenced to take it. I hope it will help other suffering women as it has me. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt so much better that I got another and now I am a well woman. I wish more women would take your medicine. I have told my friends about it."—Mrs. ROBERT COLT, Box 45, South Williamstown, Mass.

CHAPTER XXVI.

A New Arrival.

Thrice had the old nurse, Marie, assisting her mistress that night for the banquet, sighed; a number of times striven to hold my lady's eye and attention, but in vain. Only when the adorning process was nearly completed and the nurse knelt with a white slipper, did she, by a distinctly detaching pressure, succeed in arresting, momentarily, the other's bright, strained glance.

"Is anything the matter?" My lady's absent tone did not invite confidences. "My Lady—" the woman hesitated; yet seemed anxious to speak. "I—my Lady," she began again; with sign of encouragement from the Governor's daughter, would have gone on; but the latter, after waiting a moment, abruptly withdrew the sullen-shot foot.

"The banquet! It is past the hour!" An instant she stood, not seeing the other or the expression of disappointment on the woman's countenance; then quickly walked to the door. Moved as the Governor's daughter, now down the long corridor, with crimson lips set hard, was she cognizant of another face that looked out from one of the many passages of the palace after her—the face of a younger woman whose dark, spying eyes glowed and whose hands closed at sight of the vanishing figure!

The sound of gay voices, however, as she neared the banquet hall, perforce recalled my lady to a sense of her surroundings; at the same time a figure in full court dress stepped from the widely opened doors. An adequate degree of expectancy on his handsome countenance, my lord, the Marquis, who had been waiting, lover-fashion, for the first glimpse of his mistress that evening, now gallantly tendered his greetings.

Seldom, perhaps, had the ancient banquet hall presented a more festive appearance. Fruits and flowers made bright the tables; banners medieval, trophies of many victories—tridents from the ceiling; a hundred lights were reflected from ornaments of crystal and dishes of gold. On every hand an almost barbaric profusion impressed the guests with the opulence of the Mount; that few could sit in more state than this pale lord of the North, or few queens preside over a scene of greater splendor than their fair hostess, his daughter!

With feverish semblance of spirit, she took her place; beneath the keen eyes of his Excellency and beneath the smiles of wit, and only when between courses the music played, did her manner relax. Then, leaning on her elbow, with cheeks aflame and downcast eyes, she professed to listen to dainty strains—the singing of a group of performers in costume on a balcony at one end of the hall.

"Charming!" The voice was the Marquis's! She looked at him, though her eyes conveyed but a shadowy inpression. "You have quite recovered from your trip to the dungeons?"

"Quite!" With a sudden lift of the head.

"The dungeons?" His Excellency's gaze was on them. "I understand, looking at Elise, 'you had a slight adventure'?"

The glow on her cheeks faded. "Yes," she heard not to speak with difficulty. "It—was too stupid!"

"To get lost? Say, rather, it was venturesome to have attempted to return alone."

"Just what I said to the Lady Elise!" broke in the Marquis. "And to have left us at a most interesting moment!"

"Interesting?" The Governor's steel-gray eyes regarded the speaker inquiringly.

"We were about to visit the Black Selgneur!"

"Ah!" A look flashed from his Excellency to his daughter; her glance failed to meet it.

Yet paler, she turned hurriedly to the Marquis. "What is that air they are playing now?" His response she heard not; was only conscious that across the board, the eyes of her father still scrutinized; studied!

At length, however, the evening wore away; a signal from his Excellency, and of one accord they rose and crossed to the star-lit cloister adjoining. There at the entrance, my lady, who toward the last had listened with an air of distraction, hardly concealed, to her noble aunt's graceful speeches, held back, and, as the others went in, quickly effected her escape and hastened to her own apartments.

"At last!" She threw back her arms; breathed deeper. Back, back, were her hard-unyielding as the iron doors and bars of your dungeons! She pressed her hand to her forehead. "And I can do nothing—nothing!" she repeated; stood for a moment motionless and then mechanically moved toward the bell-rope at the other end of the chamber. But the hand she started to raise was arrested; through the slightly opened door to the adjoining apartment, she heard voices; words that caused her involuntarily to listen.

"I have made up my mind to tell her ladyship, Nanette!" The old nurse was speaking, in tones that betrayed excitement and anxiety. "It is, to say the least, embarrassing for me—your coming here! Yes, for the daughter of Pierre Laroche, who emigrated to the English Isles! Who has always shown disloyalty for the monarch at home!"

My lady, surprised, drew nearer; caught the answer, which came in tones deep and strong.

"At least, aunt, you are frank!"

"I must be! Under ordinary circumstances, I should be glad; of course, the child of my dead sister ought to be welcome.

"So I thought," dryly, "when I stopped off a few days ago to see you, on my way to Paris."

"If you had let me know, it is I who would have gone somewhere, near by, to have seen you!" was the troubled reply. "His Excellency—what would he say if he knew? Pierre Laroche, who has been called friend of privateersmen, perhaps even of the Black Selgneur, himself! I should have gone to his Excellency at once and asked if he objected, only you begged me not, and—"

"Were you so anxious to be rid of me?" quickly.

"I shouldn't speak as I do now, perhaps, only—"

"Only?"

"Your conduct, since you have been here."

"What do you mean?" The other's tone had not a sudden defiant ring.

"It is not seldom for a girl of your age and condition to be out alone so late, nights!"

"I just went down into the town to get something," she said carelessly at first, and the words looked so attractive.

"That's no excuse! And now," the old nurse's voice showed a trace of embarrassment, "we've had our visit, and you had better carry out your plan of going to Paris."

"You want me to leave here—at once?" The girl drew her breath sharply.

"Perhaps it would be as well."

"You treat me as if I were a spy!" angrily.

"I don't wish to do that," returned the woman in a constrained tone. "But now, after so many years of service with your ladyship! And her mother, the former lady of the Mount! If I should, the former lady of the Mount! If I can be of any help to you, if you need assistance—money—"

"Money!" Nanette's derisive laugh rang out; was suddenly hushed by the tinkling of a bell!

"Her ladyship!"

For a few moments the Governor's daughter, now standing in the center of her apartment, heard no sound from the other room; then a timid footstep approaching the door was followed by an indecisive rap.

"Your ladyship rang?" inquired Marie, turning a half-guilty glance on her mistress.

"Yes! Did I hear voices, as I came in?"

"Did your ladyship? I mean I was going to speak to your ladyship. It's my niece!" suddenly. "On her way to Paris!"

"Your niece?" The Governor's daughter looked at the other. "And you are pleased?"

"Your ladyship—" The woman flushed.

"Of course, though, you must be! She is out there. Show her in!" quickly.

"At once!"

"Very well, my lady!" Marie's manner, however, was depressed as, stepping to the threshold, reluctantly she beckoned.

Changeable Weather Robbed of its Terrors for Rheumatism, Sciatica and Neuritis

Nurito has absolutely removed changes in weather from consideration—the sun is always shining for those who have learned his effective device.

It would be almost criminal to deceive a sufferer from rheumatism, sciatica or neuritis, bent and twisted with pain—to tell him you could relieve him, then take his money and disappoint him with a worthless or harmful medicine.

Nurito is a doctor's prescription, in the form of a powder. If we had not actual proof, that it is an antidote for uric acid poisoning, which is responsible for these diseases, we would not vouch for it as we do.

We know from our own investigation that it will relieve a vast majority of cases of rheumatism, sciatica and neuritis, and guarantee it to be free from narcotics, opiates and other harmful ingredients.

at once speak; for a few moments the observant brown eyes passed in quick scrutiny over her visitor; noting the aggressive brows; the broad, strong face; the self-assertive pose. A woman to do—dare!—What?

"You wished to see me?" Nanette first spoke. Marie lifted an expostulatory hand. What had manners, thus to dare! But my lady did not seem to notice. "You are from one of the islands?" she began.

"Yes."

"Say, my lady!" broke in the old nurse. "I trust your ladyship will pardon—"

"Never mind, Marie!" with a quick gesture. "Your aunt tells me you are on your way to Paris?"

"Yes—my lady!" with the slightest hesitation before the last two words. "To seek a situation as lady's maid!"

"Tomorrow morning, your ladyship!" interposed Marie quickly.

"So soon?" My lady continued to address the girl. "You have had experience?"

"No, my lady!"

"Then how can you secure what you wish?"

"How? At least, I can try!"

"To be sure! You can try." My lady's eyes fell; she seemed to be thinking. "Still, it may be difficult. Paris is far away. And if you should fail," her fingers tapped nervously on the chair, "we are very busy at the Mount just now," she added suddenly, directing her glance full upon the other, "and there may be something here!"

"Here! Your ladyship will keep me here!"

Marie made a movement as if to speak, but her niece intercepted her. "I will do my best, my lady!"

"Very well! Then shall you have a trial?"

Rest Periods a Necessity. The importance of rest periods in school work and of as much fresh air as possible, is emphasized by recent scientific investigations, which have shown that the condition of the blood corpuscles in children is far less favorable after mental exertion in school than after hard physical effort.

Reasonably Safe. The man who is true to himself is not likely to be injured much by those who would deal falsely with him.

PALMER MENTIONED FOR CABINET PLACE

A. Mitchell Palmer.

Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, of Pennsylvania, is regarded as a strong cabinet possibility under the Wilson administration. He played a prominent part in the recent campaign and has long enjoyed the confidence of the New Jersey governor. Mr. Palmer is serving his second term in the house of representatives. He is a lawyer. Although he was never a candidate for office before, he has been an important factor in Pennsylvania state politics for many years.

"Corns Gone! GETS-IT Got 'Em!"

"GETS-IT" is the new-plan corn cure that will surely surprise you the very first time you use it. It is so simple, painless, quick and sure in its action.

It shrivels up the corn, wart, callous or bunion, separates them from the true flesh, the corn comes off and there you are, with feet that feel positively glorious corn-free once more as they used to be in your "barefoot days."

The most remarkable feature is that "GETS-IT" does not burn or tear raw the healthy flesh as other preparations do. It is as safe as water. No more plasters, bandages or salves.

"GETS-IT" is sold at drug stores at 25c a box, or sent on receipt of price by R. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

Sold in Jansville by McCue & Buss, Smith Drug Co., J. P. Baker & Son, Reliable Drug Co.

Climate Failed: Medicine Effective

It has been absolutely shown that rest, fresh air and good food do help many persons suffering from Tuberculosis. But it must be admitted that the disease is seldom more than "arrested." Something more is needed.

"Eckman's Alternative" is a medicine made for the treatment of Tuberculosis. It has conquered this disease again and again. Often these benefits have been effected where the surroundings were not ideal—yet recoveries resulted. Now we argue that Eckman's Alternative should be used in every case of Tuberculosis, in addition to good, nourishing food, and fresh air, which we all need. A remarkable case follows:

"Gentlemen: Through Eckman's Alternative I have been saved from a premature grave. On December 14, 1904, I was taken with Typhoid Pneumonia. My lungs became very much affected; my sputum was examined and Tuberculosis Bacilli were found on February 21, 1905. I was advised to go to Fort Worth, Texas. While there an abscess in my right lung broke and discharged. I grew worse, and became very much emaciated. My physician informed me that 'I must go to Colorado as quickly as possible.' I left Texas, June 21, and arrived in Canon City, June 23, very feeble. After being there two weeks, my physician informed me that my recovery was hopeless. Three weeks later I returned home, weighing 103 pounds, the doctor having given me no assurance of reaching there alive."

"On July 1, 1905, I began taking Eckman's wonderful remedy for Consumption. Today I weigh 158 pounds. I am stout and healthy, and can do any kind of work about my grain elevator. I have not an ache nor pain in my lungs, eat well, sleep well, and am a lot better."

(Signed—advised)—ARTHUR WEBB.

Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Trouble, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for more evidence. For sale by all leading druggists.

RED CROSS APPEALS FOR BALKAN STATES

Representatives of Society in Bulgaria and Greece Ask President Taft to Relieve Suffering.

Madame Bakhmeteff, who has been the following letter to the president is an American and the wife of the Russian ambassador at Washington. She spent many years in Greece and Bulgaria and has been asked to represent their Red Cross societies here.

November 6, 1912.

"Dear Mr. President: In addition to the general appeal of the American Red Cross, which you are sending out to alleviate the sufferings caused by the war in the Balkans I should like to state that I have received a cable from the Queen of Greece saying that the need is great and increasing and asking me to send directly to her all the aid I can gather. I also represent the Bulgarian Red Cross and am informed from the fact that conditions are equally terrible and that need of assistance is most urgent.

The rigorous Balkan winter is closing in upon the poor, unprepared people and thousands of sick and wounded may die for want of a little help. Hospital supplies, clothing, and many other things are greatly needed.

"I have lived many years in Greece and in Bulgaria and have assisted at many scenes of hardship and suffering and know by experience that such appeals coming from there can not be exaggerated and demand a quick answer and I devoutly pray that they find an echo in all Christian hearts. Any contributions that may be sent to me I will forward directly to their destination through the American Red Cross with the names of the charitable contributors who can designate, if they wish, the country they want to assist, whether it be Greece or Bulgaria.

Your most sincerely,
"Marie Bakhmeteff."

Madame Slavka Grouitch, whose letter to the president follows, is an American by birth and wife of the Serbian minister in London. Before her marriage having been a student at Athens and Constantinople in archaeology, Madame Grouitch has seen the Balkan situation from many points of view and realizes how greatly this aid is needed.

November 6, 1912.

"Dear Mr. President: Having been charged with the mission to represent the Serbian Red Cross, it is my duty to appeal to you, as the honored president of the American Red Cross, for aid in meeting the overwhelming needs of our Red Cross, brought about by the present war.

The Serbian Red Cross, one of the earliest established societies is exceedingly efficient and well-organized. Our society has rendered aid at home and abroad in many wars and catastrophes that have occasioned suffering to helpless people. Only lately it sent a generous donation to the Red Crescent Society of Turkey for the relief of the suffering from the earthquakes on the Bosphorus. But no organization, however efficient, can meet the terrible demands that war brings upon it. With three million inhabitants, Serbia has put an army of 300,000 in the field, all of whom since the 17th of October have been engaged in almost daily battle which have cost not only many lives, but whose other victims, thousands of wounded, lie in our hospitals, while large numbers of the sick and wounded prisoners require, and will receive the same treatment accorded to our own troops.

Suffering will be greatly increased when the Balkan winter, with its heavy snows and bitter winds, sets in, as it will in a few weeks. There is not an able-bodied man in Serbia who has not offered himself for service in the field. Our women, young and old, are working for the Red Cross, but without the sufficient hospital supplies so greatly needed to prevent dreadful suffering and unnecessary deaths.

We therefore appeal to the American Red Cross, and through it to the generous sympathy of the American people, for help for the suffering sick and wounded. Even if an armistice should be declared, the troops could not be at once disbanded. The sick and wounded must still be cared for, and our Red Cross work must go on for many months. The situation is desperate and pressing. With our earnest prayers for help we send the promise of our eternal gratitude for all aid that may be sent us.

"Mabel Dunlop Grouitch," ("Madame Slavko Grouitch.")

Contributions may be sent to the American Red Cross, Washington, D. C., to Jacob H. Schiff, Red Cross Office, United Charities Building, New York City, or to any local Red Cross Treasurer.

His Fear.

"Weren't you afraid to go down stairs in the dark last night?" asked a woman of her little son recently. "Yes, I was a little afraid," answered the boy. "But what were you afraid of?" asked the mother. "H'm," said the boy, "I was afraid there wouldn't be any doughnuts."

Home Hint.

SIX THOUSAND REWARD FOR RECOVERING CHILD.

Janesville Police Given Description of Little Robert Dunbar, Jr., Missing Since August 23.

Through the southern department of the Burns Detective Agency the Janesville police have been given a description of Robert Dunbar, Jr., aged four years and four months, who has been missing since August 23 and is believed to have been kidnapped. A reward of $6,000 is offered for information leading to his recovery. At the time little Robert disappeared, it was camping with its parents at Swazie Lake near Opelousas, Louisiana, and wandered away. A thorough search of the surrounding country was made, lakes and bayous dragged, and swamps thoroughly searched, but without avail. The child's tracks were found leading along the railroad tracks some distance from the camp and as it would have been impossible for the child to have remained there for any length of time the supposition is that he has been kidnapped.

On August 26 a dark complexioned woman, supposedly a mulatress, about thirty years of age, was seen passing through Baton Rouge, accompanied by a child answering the description of the one missing. She was traced to Burnside, 28 miles south where the trail was lost. Robert Dunbar, Jr., has large, round blue eyes, hair light but turning dark, fair complexion and rosy cheeks well developed stout but not fat, short thick neck. The big toe on his right foot was badly scarred when a baby.

Specialists Recommend Yawning.

In the opinion of learned specialists no one can be healthy unless he or she does a certain amount of yawning. When you yawn you expel from the lungs a lot of superfluous air; the breathing muscles of both the chest and the throat are strengthened by yawning.
